Special Education

Within the Division of Learning Services, the Office of Special Education administers state and federal funds to support services for students and adults with disabilities. This office also oversees the operation of three school systems administered by the State Board of Education. These are the Missouri School for the Blind, the Missouri School for the Deaf and the Missouri Schools for Severely Disabled. Through their outreach programs and consulting services, these school systems assist local school personnel and families throughout the state in meeting the needs of children with disabilities.

The Office of Special Education consists of the following sections:

First Steps (Birth to 3): This section works with other state and local agencies to coordinate the Missouri First Steps program, which provides early intervention services for infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families.

Effective Practices: This section works with local school districts in developing and improving special education services for students (ages 3-21) with disabilities.

Compliance: This section monitors special education programs for students with disabilities ages 3-21, in all public schools and approves private agencies to serve students enrolled in public schools. The section also conducts Child Complaint investigations.

Sheltered Workshops: Sheltered workshops provide employment for adults with disabilities. The Office of Special Education provides financial and technical support for all approved sheltered workshops in the state.

Local School Districts – Comprehensive Screening

Local school districts provide a free comprehensive screening to children. This includes a screening of the child’s health, hearing, vision, and overall development. Services provided vary by school district.

All families should qualify for the free comprehensive screening, but families may want to check with their local school district for more information.

Local School Districts – Special Education

All school districts in Missouri are required to provide a free and appropriate education to all students.

A student must meet eligibility criteria through an educational evaluation that includes:

- A review of medical records (if available),
- Information from parents,
- Performance on classroom assessments,
- Observation of the child’s behavior across multiple environments, and
- An in-depth social history.

Parents may refer their child for the educational evaluation. If they disagree with the outcome of the evaluation, they may request an independent educational evaluation.

Evaluations are performed through the child’s local school district.

Note:

The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) Part B and the Missouri State Plan through Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) define the eligibility criteria for special education services. Missouri state statutes define the eligibility criteria for developmental disability supports and services through the Missouri Department of Mental Health, Division of Developmental Disabilities (DMH). Therefore, a child age 6 and over may be eligible for an Individualized Educational Plan (IEP) and not meet eligibility requirements for services through DMH.

Vocational Rehabilitation

<https://dese.mo.gov/adult-learning-rehabilitation-services/vocational-rehabilitation/transition-services>

Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) and Special Education share responsibility in preparing youth with disabilities for the transition from school to post-high school employment, education, specialized training and independence.

VR's role is primarily one of planning and preparing for when a student graduates or exits the school system. Successful transition planning involves VR counselors and educators working together to encourage students and their families to think about goals for life after high school and develop a plan to get there.

The VR counselor should be invited to the IEP meeting anytime there is a possibility the student may need VR services. Generally speaking, this occurs during the last two years of the student's high school experience. The VR counselor is typically invited to the IEP meeting by the school.

Eligibility for VR services is determined by the VR counselor on an individual basis. The counselor must certify that the individual has a physical or mental impairment that causes limitations to employment and requires VR services to prepare for, secure, retain or regain employment.

At all stages throughout the VR program, eligible students will be provided vocational information and guidance allowing them to make informed choices regarding their vocational plan. Eligible students may receive one or more of the following transition-related services, which include but are not limited to:

- vocational planning
- career guidance and counseling
- on-the-job training
- assistance with finding a job
- independent living services at centers for independent living
- pre-employment transition services

What is Transition?

High school for, any student, is about preparing for the future. The context in which we refer to transition here is when a student transitions from high school to adulthood. Transition planning begins as early as age 14 and no than 16 years of age.

A transition plan helps you to develop a direction for what you'll pursue after high school and will help you plan for how to accomplish that.

The transition section of your IEP is called the Post-Secondary Transition Plan (Form C of the IEP). These are your goals (plans) for after high school. The transition goals will provide the direction toward establishing your annual IEP goals. For example, you plan to secure a manufacturing job after you graduate. What education/training will you need during your school years to achieve that? What courses will you need to take to help you achieve that goal? Think how your annual goals will help you get to your end goal.

To help you achieve your post-secondary goals, you will need:

- a realistic post-secondary goal that is based on transition assessments
- know your interests, accommodation needs and knowledge of how your disability will impact achieving your goal
- self-advocacy skills
- information about adult agencies that might provide supports after graduation
- parent support

Missouri Department of Mental Health, Division of Developmental Disabilities

<http://dmh.mo.gov/dd>

The Division of Developmental Disabilities (DD), established in 1974, serves a population that has developmental disabilities such as intellectual disabilities, cerebral palsy, head injuries, autism, epilepsy, and certain learning disabilities. Such conditions must have occurred before age 22, with the expectation that they will continue. To be eligible for services from the Division, persons with these disabilities must be substantially limited in their ability to function independently.

The Division improves the lives of persons with developmental disabilities through programs and services to enable those persons to live independently and productively. In 1988, the Division began participation in the Medicaid home and community-based waiver program, designed to help expand needed services throughout the state.

Missouri Division of Developmental Disabilities Regional Offices

The Department of Mental Health, Division of Developmental Disabilities has offices in several regions of the state. These regional offices are where people apply for eligibility for division services. For eligibility in our region the office is:

St. Louis Tri-County Regional Office

Wainwright Bldg., 111 N. 7th St., 6th Fl.

St. Louis, MO 63101

314-244-8800

314-244-8804 (fax)

To request an eligibility packet, ask for the Intake Department. The eligibility packet must be completed and returned before a determination can be made. Determinations can take up to two months to process.

Once eligible, individuals are assigned a case manager or service coordinator.

Why is this important?

This process is required in order for you to be eligible for supports and services provided through the state Department of Mental Health or the Developmental Disabilities Resource Board of St. Charles County.

Developmental Disabilities Resource Board of St. Charles County (DDRBR)

<http://www.ddrb.org/>

The DDRB is a local public taxing entity, commonly known as a "Senate Bill 40 Board". This public tax was established in 1977 when voters of St. Charles County approved to tax themselves up to sixteen cents per $100.00 of assessed property valuation to provide community based programs and supports for citizens with developmental disabilities.

With revenue from the tax, the DDRB contracts with agencies that provide supports and services to serve individuals with developmental disabilities in St. Charles County.

<http://www.ddrb.org/about-us/funded-agencies/>

Funded services include:

- Advocacy
- adaptive equipment
- supported child day care
- early intervention
- family support
- education
- socialization and community integration
- employment training and supports
- therapy
- recreation
- independent living assistance, among others.

Individuals deemed eligible through Missouri Department of Mental Health, Division of Developmental Disabilities, regardless of age, are eligible for services funded by the DDRB.

In 2006, in response to growing case load sizes within the Missouri Department of Mental Health (DMH), the DDRB entered into an agreement with the state to begin providing case management services to adults, that over time would improve case management services overall. Today, the DDRB provides case management services to individuals aged 17 and over.

In order to receive services funded by the DDRB, regardless of age, the individual must reside in St. Charles County and must be deemed eligible by the St. Louis Regional Tri-County Office.

What are Case Management Services?

Case management services for individuals with developmental disabilities living in St. Charles County is the service that helps to coordinate the various supports you need in all areas of your daily life. Your case manager is the primary connection to accessing available supports, resources and services across multiple service systems as well as local community supports.

Case Managers and Service Coordinators

Knowing what resources are available, how to access them, or which ones best fit your needs can feel overwhelming. The experienced guidance from a professional service coordinator or case manager helps to sort through these issues, so that you can make informed choices now and in the future. Your case manager has the knowledge and expertise to navigate and work collaboratively with service providers to ensure supports are interconnected with your individual needs.

The Case Management Process

Case management services promote positive outcomes for people with developmental disabilities by overseeing service quality and cost-effective supports. These supports and services are based on the following process:

- Assessment of the person's support need
- Development of an Individualized Support Plan (ISP)
- Implementation, coordination, and monitoring of services

By planning need and support in an organized and professional manner, you are more likely to receive the consistent and reliable help you deserve.

Long Lasting Effects of Case Management Services

These critical services cover all life stages by promoting community participation and social relationships through the following:

- Direct contact and communication
- Resource management

What is a Medicaid Waiver?

<https://www.medicaidwaiver.org/>

Medicaid waiver is known as the "home and community-based services waiver" (HCBS) because it allows states to treat certain Medicaid recipient populations in home or other community based settings rather than in institutional or long-term care facilities such as hospitals or nursing homes. States develop home and community-based services waivers to meet the needs of people within their state.

Types of HCBS Waivers:

Why you need to know

It's important that you understand that there are several different entities that play an important part in providing the supports and services that you need. It's equally important that you know what each entity provides and requires in order effectively access appropriate supports and services.

As a summary:

- DESE provides school supports and services.
- Mo HealthNet (Medicaid) services are provided through Missouri Department of Senior Services, Family Support Division.
- Developmental Disabilities Resource Board (DDRB) of St. Charles County provides local tax funding to community-based service provider agencies that help off-set the cost to individuals and families.

Need help getting started?

The DDRB has contracted with Family Advocacy and Community Training (FACT) to provide the Family Support Partner Program. This program connects families with experienced staff who are also parents of individuals with developmental disabilities. Through this shared perspective, the parent partner helps the family navigate service systems to secure needed services and resources that help keep families intact. This program is offered free of charge and is ideal for families who have no previous experience with these service systems. Staff can assist with the eligibility process, provide information and referral resources, and help you better understand your next steps.
